Sherri the mouse - As the name indicates, Sherri is a mouse, who lives in Castle Britannia. Strangely enough, she is unusually smart and understands human languages, and she sometimes write accounts of significant events happening there. An valuable source of informations, and speculations, she has already given us description of a meeting between Lord British and the Time Lord, and of the events that led to the founding of the Guards of Virtue

Slimely of Skara Brae - Translator for Roxor the Troll Captain. Broke into the BNN studio and put on his Liberation in Britannia show on behalf of Minax Network News.

Tavara Sewell - One of the four expeditioners that lost their lives in the Sanctum that Khal Ankur's followers built in his honor, now known as Dungeon Khaldun. We know her story from the Expedition Journals and Diaries.

Tristal - Mage known for his crazy, unusual, and unsupported idea, not backed by most of the Council.

Tyball (missing) - Tyball is the presumed lover of Malabelle, that she believe was killed by Lord British. According to Joye and the crystal ball she received, he would be alive, and prisoner of Minax.

Uulthur Malphane (deceased) - Apparently, a legendary warlord who owned some of the lands in northern Britannia, and held them against the trolls.

Uzeraan - Man bringing riddles to the realm via special statues.

Wallace Sims - Translator for headless.
Whinchel the Scribe - Reporter for Britannia Network News.

Winslow (murdered) - Sage and scholar, Humbolt's assistant
